Northwest High School Principal to Fall from the Skies in Support of Wounded Troops

- WHO: Jason Childress, Northwest High School Principal
Dana Bowman, President and Founder of HALO for Freedom Warrior Foundation
Nearly 30 wounded warriors
- WHAT: Northwest High School will host Dana Bowman, president and founder of HALO for Freedom Warrior Foundation, and several wounded warriors. To open the event, Childress will be performing a tandem skydive with a warrior from the foundation.
- WHEN: Thursday, March 6
2 p.m.
- WHERE: Northwest High School Junior Varsity Practice Football Field
2301 Texan Drive
Justin, Texas 76247
- WHY: Dana Bowman created HALO For Freedom in 2012. His mission is to provide assistance and support to wounded warriors who have been injured in combat as they begin their new lives. Bowman and his foundation believe the words “amputee” and “useless” are not synonymous and believe wounded warriors can live a productive, fulfilling lifestyle. Bowman, a veteran and double amputee himself, and several other wounded warriors will attend the event to give motivational speeches to students. To kick start the event, Childress will be sky diving into Northwest High School’s junior varsity practice football field where wounded warriors will share their stories and provide motivation for students to strive their hardest to achieve their goals and let them know anything is possible with hard work.
